

Reflection is when the light bounces off most surfaces and enters in our eyes.

Refraction is when the light goes from one transparent material to another one.